Even with your parent's best example and your teachers' best efforts, in the end it is your work that determines how much and how well you learn. When you work to your full capacity, you can hope to attain the knowledge and skills that will enable you to create your future and control your destiny. Policy and Procedure Manual

Academy Criteria

I. Purpose

The purpose of this Policy and Procedure Manual is to establish the criteria under which an applicant's suitability for Basic Recruit Training will be decided.

II. Scope

The Policy and Procedure Manual applies to all applicants of the Indian River State College (IRSC) Criminal Justice Institute's Selection Center who apply for Basic Law Enforcement or Corrections Academy training at the Criminal Justice Institute.

III. Discussion

It is the intent of the IRSC Criminal Justice Institute's Selection Center to seek out those applicants who possess the best qualities available for candidates seeking future employment in the law enforcement and corrections occupations. The hiring of individuals who have entered into or graduated from the Criminal Justice Institute is the responsibility of the criminal justice agencies that may become interested in an applicant. The Criminal Justice Institute makes no promise of employment, but as a result of the training provided, it is hoped it will make an applicant desirable for future employment.

The Selection Center and Criminal Justice Institute follow guidelines established by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE), the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission (CJSTC), the Region XI Training Council, and applicable Florida State Statutes (FSS) and Florida Administrative Codes (FAC) pertaining to officer employment guidelines. The FDLE BASIC ABILITIES TEST (BAT) EXAM

Overview

The Florida Department of Law Enforcement (FDLE) defined “minimum competencies,” or basic abilities, skills and other personal characteristics required for success in the law enforcement officer and correctional officer positions, based on findings from a rigorous state-wide research project – a job task analysis (JTA).

Minimum Competencies

- Written Comprehension
- Written Expression
- Memorization
- Deductive Reasoning
- Inductive Reasoning
- Personal Characteristics/Behavioral Attributes

These “minimum competencies” were adopted by the Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission (Commission) as pre-requisites for enrollment in Florida Commission-certified training centers. The Criminal Justice Basic Abilities Test (CJBAT), developed by Industrial/Organizational Solutions (IOS), Inc., measures these minimum competencies and is used to ensure candidates meet the minimum requirements for the job of a law enforcement or correctional officer.

Examination

IOS’ CJBAT measures the defined “minimum competencies” in three separately-timed sections as follows: Section I - behavioral attributes; Section II - memorization; and Section III – written comprehension, written expression, deductive reasoning, and inductive reasoning. In total, there are 97 questions on the CJBAT. You will have 1 ½ hours to complete the exam.

Section I

This section of the CJBAT measures various job-related behavioral attributes that indicate how successful you will be as a law enforcement or correctional officer. This section contains 47 items. You will be given 20 minutes to complete this section.

Section II

This section of the CJBAT consists of memorization items. You will be presented with images and asked to memorize as many details as possible. You will then answer questions about the images presented. This section contains 10 items. You will have 1 minute to review a picture and 1 ½ minutes to answer the questions associated with that picture.

Section III

The CJBAT assesses four additional distinct cognitive abilities: written comprehension, written expression, deductive reasoning, and inductive reasoning. This section contains 40 items. You will have 1 hour to complete Section III.

Passing Score

In order to receive a passing status on the CJBAT, candidates must obtain a score of 70 or higher across all three sections. In addition, a candidate must correctly respond to at least 30 of the 50 questions contained within Sections II and III. The CJBAT only produces a pass/fail result. No scores will be provided to candidates, academies, or agencies.

Law Enforcement vs. Corrections Examinations

The questions on the CJBAT for law enforcement officers will be, for the most part, related to law enforcement; the questions will involve situations that police and law enforcement officers encounter on the job, such as collecting evidence or issuing citations. The questions on the CJBAT for correctional officers will be, for the most part, related to corrections; the questions will be about incidents inside prisons and other correctional facilities. These examinations do not require any previous experience or outside knowledge. Use ONLY the material provided in the questions or accompanying passages as a basis upon which to choose your answers.

Study Aids & Preparation Materials

Study aids and preparation materials are available for sale at the IOS, Inc. website (<https://iosolutions.com>). Alternatively, you can simply search for “CJBAT” on the IOS web-store to find the related products for sale.

Indian River State College

Retesting Policy – Candidates will be allowed to retake the test at the next available testing session. A testing fee of $40.00 is required to retake the test. TESTING FEES ARE NON-REFUNDABLE

PHYSICAL ABILITY TEST (PAT) DESCRIPTION

(Required clothing - T-shirt, shorts, or sweat suits and running shoes)

Passing Score – 6 minutes 4 seconds

Test Score Is Valid For 6 Months

The PAT test begins with applicant seated in full size automobile, seat belt on, with hands at the 10 and 2 o'clock positions on the steering wheel. Around the applicant's waist is a pull-away flag belt with ribbons (flags) positioned over each hip. Trunk key is in the vehicle glove compartment, which is in the closed position. If the vehicle has a trunk latch (cover), it is placed in the open position revealing the trunk lock. In the front center part of the trunk is positioned a weapon (revolver) and a baton.

On the command "go" the stop watch is started and the applicant removes hands from steering wheel, unfastens seat belt, opens glove box and removes key, then exits the vehicle (the glove box and the car door are left opened). The applicant moves to the back of the car where the key is inserted in the lock and the trunk opened. Immediately after opening the trunk the applicant touches each ribbon with the opposite hand from behind the back and the flag belt is pulled away, letting it fall to the ground. The weapon and the baton are removed from the trunk; the trunk is closed with the key remaining in the lock. Immediately after placing the weapon on the nearby bench, five feet from the left rear taillight, the applicant proceeds with baton in hand to the beginning of the 220-yard run.

Carrying a baton, the applicant runs 220 yards on a flat surface to the entrance of the obstacle course. Upon completion of the 220 yard run, the applicant passes through the pylons at the entrance to the obstacle portion of the course. Ten feet into the obstacle course the applicant must climb a 40-inch wall followed by a series of three (24, 12 and 18 inch) hurdles five feet apart located 10 feet beyond the way. Ten feet beyond the final hurdle, the applicant encounters the first of nine pylons in a single row spaced five feet apart. The applicant must serpentine through the pylons. Ten feet beyond the last pylon the applicant must crawl under a 27-inch high, eight-foot-long low crawl area after which the applicant stands, moves to the pylons located seven feet beyond the low crawl and places the baton beside one of the pylons. Note: If the applicant knocks over a hurdle or pylon, they immediately stop and repeat that portion of the obstacle course. A test administrator sets the pylon and hurdle upright again.

The applicant then sprints 50 feet, grabs the handles on the 150-pound dummy and drags it 100 feet on a cut grass surface. Upon completion of the dummy drag the applicant sprints 50 feet back to the pylons, picks up the baton and reverses course through the obstacles. After the wall climb the applicant moves to the pylons and once again repeats carrying a baton 220 yards on a flat surface.

After completing the 220-yard run, the applicant places the baton on the bench, picks up the weapon, assumes a firing position while keeping arms completely outstretched at shoulder height and parallel with the ground, firing six rounds each using the dominant, then non-dominant hand (12 rounds all together).

Following the weapons fire, the trunk is opened, the weapon and baton are placed inside the trunk and the trunk is closed. After the key is removed from the trunk lock, the applicant re-enters the vehicle, closing the vehicle door, places the key in the glove box, closes the glove box, re-fastens the seat belt and places both hands on the steering wheel, at which time the test ends.

Law Enforcement and Corrections Basic Recruit Training Academy

Physical Fitness Conditioning Program

Physical Fitness Training Plan & Wellness Nutritional Component

Introduction

The criminal justice field is both challenging and fulfilling and will require an individual to apply a myriad of skills. To be a well-balanced officer, this occupation requires you to be physically and mentally fit.

A physical fitness/wellness training program can help you enjoy your career, prepare you to defend yourself, and enable you to benefit from good health after you retire. You owe it to your colleagues, family, and most importantly, yourself, to achieve and maintain peak physical fitness for a well-balanced career.

This training plan is a resource for those individuals preparing to attend the IRSC/CJI's Basic Recruit Training Programs. Applicants are required to provide this training plan to the respective medical or health professional at the time the Form CJSTC-75 is completed. It is recommended that the applicant consult with the medical or health professional and discuss any personal health questions after reviewing the contents of this guide.

The CJI Instructors provide recruits with a basic foundation for fitness that includes stretching, exercise techniques, and suggestions for improving cardiovascular endurance. Recruits participate in a moderately strenuous physical conditioning program to prepare for both the FDLE Physical Fitness Assessment and to pass the physical agility tests.

What is physical fitness?

Physical fitness is the ability to perform physical activities, such as job tasks, with enough reserve for emergency situations and to enjoy normal activities when off duty.

Major areas of fitness

- Flexibility– the ability to move joints and use muscles through their full range of motion.
- Cardio Endurance– the ability to deliver oxygen and nutrients to tissues and to remove wastes, over sustained periods of time. It consists of both aerobic and anaerobic energy systems.
- Muscular Strength– the ability of a muscle to exert force for a brief period of time. Upper-body strength, for example, can be measured by various weight-lifting exercises.
- Muscular Endurance– the ability of a muscle, or a group of muscles, to sustain repeated contractions or to continue applying force against a fixed object. Push-ups are often used to test endurance of arm and shoulder muscles.
- Body composition is also considered an area of physical fitness. Excess body fat increases the workload placed upon the body and decreases the body's ability to dissipate heat.

Hydration

Water is the major component of blood plasma and makes up 60% of the human body. Water transports everything in the body and helps regulate body temperature. Every cell depends on water as the universal medium for carrying out all functions.

Water is lost through urine and sweat and must be replaced with 8-10 glasses of water a day. Generally, the more active an individual, or the larger the individual, then more water should be consumed. You can lose as much as 2 quarts of fluid through perspiration during 1 hour of hard exercise in the heat. The body requires water to function correctly while exercising. To calculate water intake needs, divide body weight by two. The answer relates to the approximate number of ounces of water to drink per day.

If you aren't replenishing fluids lost (through perspiration) with water or a sports drink, your muscles will tire more quickly and you may experience muscle cramps. Your body may also have a hard time keeping its core temperature regulated; this can lead to serious health conditions, such as heat exhaustion or heat stroke.

Here are some other tips to protect against dehydration while exercising:

- Thirst is a sign that you are already dehydrated. Don't wait until you are thirsty to drink water!
- Weigh yourself before and after a workout to estimate sweat loss and fluid intake needs. If weight is gained during an exercise session then you are drinking too much. If weight is lost, not enough drinking may be occurring.
- Avoid caffeinated beverages, such as coffee and soda, while exercising; they can promote dehydration.
- Keep a bottle of water in your gym bag so you have easy access to fluids.
- Check the color of your urine. If properly hydrated, urine should be clear and light colored. If dehydrated, urine may appear cloudy and dark.

Warm-up & Flexibility

A warm-up serves several functions, including:

- increased blood flow to working muscles and joints
- decreased likelihood of injury
- decrease in pre-event tension
- possible improved performance
- improved flexibility

A proper warm-up of muscles before any physical activity may decrease risk of injury. Spend at least 5-10 minutes stretching and warming up and loosening the muscles. The increased blood flow of such a warm-up will decrease tension in muscles, improve their range of motion and may even improve performance. Warming-up may significantly reduce the chances of muscle pulls, strains, sprains and other such injuries.

When stretching, follow these basic rules:

- Stretch slowly
- No bouncing
- No pain; stretching should feel good
- Stretching is not competitive
- Breathe slowly to help relax

You should always warm-up and cool down properly when exercising.

Cardiovascular Training Program

Aerobic Fitness

During aerobic activities, the intensity of the exercise is low enough for the cardiopulmonary system to meet the oxygen demands of the working muscles. Aerobic activities include bicycling, hiking, swimming, climbing stairs, and running when performed at a low enough intensity.

Anaerobic Fitness

During anaerobic activities, the intensity of exercise is so high that the working muscles demand for oxygen exceeds the cardiopulmonary system's ability to deliver. Since adequate oxygen is not available, waste products, such as lactic acid, accumulate. This type of intense activity can only be short in duration. An example of an anaerobic activity is sprinting.

Speed Training

Speed training involves a repeated series of exercise activities interspersed with rest or relief periods. Speed training is an excellent exercise for improving both aerobic and anaerobic endurance. Running intervals are performed on a track or a marked course with intensity at a rate much higher than the aerobic phase.

Muscular Strength/Endurance Program

Muscular Strength/Endurance is a resistance program designed to improve total body strength and endurance. This is not a bodybuilding or a power-lifting program but designed to prepare a recruit specifically for the FDLE physical fitness assessments, the physical agility profile tests and the physical conditioning at the CJI.

Circuit training is a very effective and efficient method to improve muscular strength, muscular endurance and cardiovascular endurance. The workout consists of weight lifting at a station for 10-12 repetitions and then moving on to the next exercise station. Rest between exercises should not exceed 30 seconds.

Wellness Nutritional Component

Proper nutrition begins with providing the body all the essential nutrients including carbohydrates, protein, fats, vitamins, minerals and water. Learning to eat nutritiously is not hard. The key is to:

- ◆ Eat a variety of foods, including vegetables, fruits and whole-grain products;
- ◆ Eat lean meats, poultry, and fish, beans and low-fat dairy products;
- ◆ Drink sufficient water; and
- ◆ Moderate your intake of salt, sugar, alcohol, and saturated fat and trans-fat. Saturated fats are usually fats that come from animals. Look for trans-fat on the labels of processed foods, margarines and shortenings.

Carbohydrates

Carbohydrates, or “carbs,” the primary fuel for energy, come as complex (starches) or simple (sugars). Some carbohydrates (mostly complex) may contain fiber that helps keep the intestinal tract healthy. It is recommended that carbohydrates make up a significant amount, some estimate 60%, of the total caloric intake, with the majority coming from complex sources.

Carbohydrates are found in fruits and vegetables and grains, and in refined form in everything from candy bars to cakes.

Complex carbohydrates are long strings of simple carbohydrates. Because these take longer to process in our bodies, they provide a less readily available, but more sustained, form of energy. Examples include starchy foods such as potatoes and pasta, as well as many of the commercially available sports gels and drinks.

Protein

Proteins are complex chains of molecules called amino acids that are essential for tissue growth and muscle development. They have a secondary purpose as fuel in the absence of carbohydrates and fats. Protein should be approximately 15% of the daily caloric intake. Age, body weight, and athletic activity might also affect the required amount.

Protein is the building block for muscles; while simply eating large amounts of protein will not result in muscle formation, exercising without adequate intake of protein will cause muscle wasting.

Protein is most commonly ingested in the forms of meat, poultry or fish. Vegetarians obtain their protein from tofu and other soy products. Commercially available protein formulations are principally composed of whey, a milk derived protein. Whey is also found in many protein meal supplement bars.

Fats

The primary purpose of fats is to serve as body fuel. Fats also help absorb certain vitamins, build cells, provide insulation and cushion vital organs. The daily caloric intake should contain 20-30% fat.

There are three types of fat: saturated, monounsaturated and polyunsaturated. Studies have shown that monounsaturated fats increase the levels of high-density lipoprotein (a.k.a. good cholesterol) and lower levels of low-density lipoprotein (a.k.a. bad cholesterol). Saturated fats lower the good cholesterol while increasing the bad cholesterol. It is recommended that one limit saturated fats for a more healthful diet.

Vitamins and Minerals

Vitamins are organic substances that act as regulators for various physiological processes of the body. Minerals are inorganic elements with similar responsibilities. Vitamins are chemical compounds that serve as important co-enzymes in many chemical processes in the body. All are needed in small quantities on a daily basis. Here is a partial list of commonly discussed vitamins along with their principal functions and where they may be found.

- Vitamin A: Necessary for color and night vision. Found in orange and yellow vegetables.
- Vitamin B Complex: A series of vitamins, the most important of which are B1, B6 and B12. B1 & B6 are required for neurological function. B12 has an important role in blood cell formation. B vitamins are found in grains and meats. Most breads and cereals are fortified with B1 and B6. B12 is obtained principally from meats.
- Vitamin C: A free radical scavenger, vitamin C has important functions for connective tissue, disease maturation and has a role in immune function. It is found principally in citrus fruits.
- Vitamin D: Required for proper bone development. Synthesized in the body when the skin is exposed to sunlight, it is also found in milk.
- Vitamin E: Another free radical scavenger, this vitamin has an important role in protecting against the formation of mutated DNA. Vitamin E is found in nuts, vegetables, fish and other meats.
- Vitamin K: Vitamin K is important for the formation of important proteins that control bleeding. It too is found principally in nuts and vegetables.

Weight Control

There are many conflicting theories, principles, books, articles, etc. on how to lose weight. Be cautious of the “too good to be true” fad diets or supplements. More harm than good usually is the end result. A prudent diet contains all the essential nutrients and food when eaten in moderation. Achieving a healthy weight can help control cholesterol, blood pressure and blood sugar. It might also help prevent weight-related diseases, such as heart disease, diabetes, arthritis and some cancers.

Eating too much or not being physically active enough may make you overweight. To maintain your weight, the calories you eat must equal the energy you burn. To lose weight, you must use more calories than you eat. A weight-control strategy might include:

- ◆ Choosing low-fat, low-calorie foods;
- ◆ Eating smaller portions;
- ◆ Drinking water instead of sugary drinks; and
- ◆ Being physically active

Making the right choices about what to eat are as important as they are complicated. Fad diets come and go but the best way to maintain good health is to be smart about what you eat. Doing this means having a better understanding of the “what” and “why” of food but also in taking the time to read labels on everything you buy to ensure the foods you eat are what you want. The single best rule, with respect to diet, is that moderation is key. Too much or too little of anything is generally a bad thing. Please consult a physician before starting any kind of diet.

Physical Fitness Training Plan

FDLE Physical Fitness Assessment Test Process

Within the first 2 weeks of training and then continuing throughout the academy, recruits will participate in physical fitness training and tests. Recruits who have a solid foundation in physical fitness, or those who have been actively participating in a physical fitness program just prior to entering into basic training, generally score higher than recruits who have not been active.

Various job task analysis profiles and studies conducted by the Cooper Institute for Aerobics Research (CIAR) have determined the areas and levels of physical fitness which are necessary for performing the essential functions of a criminal justice officer's job. Data also supports that physical fitness components are the underlying and predictive factors for performing tasks such as:

- ◆ sustained pursuit/ aerobic power
- ◆ sprints/ anaerobic power
- ◆ dodging/ aerobic/anaerobic power and flexibility
- ◆ lifting and carrying/ muscular strength and endurance; anaerobic power
- ◆ dragging, pulling, and pushing/ muscular strength and endurance;
- ◆ anaerobic power
- ◆ jumping and vaulting/ anaerobic power, leg power and strength
- ◆ crawling/ muscular endurance, flexibility, body fat composition
- ◆ use of force/ muscular strength and endurance, anaerobic power
- ◆ use of force/ muscular strength and endurance, aerobic power

Florida Criminal Justice Standards and Training Commission (CJSTC) rules require 5 physical fitness components to be measured at the beginning and end of the Florida Basic Recruit Training Program.

1. Vertical Jump. This component measures leg power and consists of measuring how high a person can jump.
2. One Minute Sit-Ups. These exercises measure abdominal or trunk muscular endurance. While students lie on their backs, they will be given one minute to do as many bent leg sit-ups as possible.
3. 300 Meter Run. This exercise measures anaerobic power, or the ability to make an intense burst of effort for a short time period. This component requires students to sprint 300 meters.
4. Maximum Push-Ups. This component measures the muscular endurance of the upper body and consists of doing as many push-ups as possible until muscular fatigue develops.
5. 1.5 Mile Run. This exercise measures aerobic power or cardiovascular endurance stamina over time. To complete this component, the student must run or jog, as fast as possible, for a distance of 1.5 miles.

Vertical Jump

Purpose

This exercise is a measure of jumping or explosive power.

Procedure

1. Stand with your feet together and one side toward the wall, and reach up as high as possible to mark your standard reach.
2. Jump as high as possible and mark the highest point of your jump. Jump from both feet in a stationary stance. You can pump and thrust your arms upward.
3. Your score is the total inches, to the nearest 1/2 inch, above the standard reach mark.
4. Record the best score after three trials.

How to Prepare for the Vertical Jump

A good way to prepare for this component is to do plyometric training. The basic plyometric exercise routine consists of three exercises: double leg vertical jump, single leg vertical jump, and the double leg hop. Perform each exercise with 1 set of 10 repetitions, 3 days a week. Do the repetitions without stopping, and rest three minutes between each set of an exercise.

Double Leg Vertical Jump

Intensity Level: High

Starting Position: Stand with your feet shoulder-width apart.

Direction of Jump: Vertical

Arm Action: Double arm action

Starting Action: Perform a rapid counter movement and jump as high as possible.

Ascent: Thrust arms upward vigorously and reach as high as possible.

Descent: When your feet hit the ground, jump again immediately without a stutter step.

Double Leg Hop Intensity

Level: Medium

Starting Position: Stand with your feet shoulder-width apart.

Direction of Jump: Horizontal, with a vertical component Arm

Action: Double arm action

Starting Action: Jump from both legs and strive for maximum distance.

Ascent: Think about “hanging” in the air.

Descent: Land in the starting position and immediately repeat the movement.

Single Leg Vertical Jump

Intensity Level: High

Starting Position: Stand with one foot on the ground.

Direction of Jump: Vertical

Arm Action: Double arm action

Starting Action: Perform a rapid counter movement and jump as high as possible.

Ascent: Thrust your arms upward vigorously, reaching as high as possible. Descent:

When your foot hits the ground, immediately jump without a stutter step.

(Place emphasis on maximum height and quick, explosive takeoffs. Repeat this exercise with the opposite leg after a brief rest of 15–30 seconds.)

One Minute Sit-Ups

Purpose

This component of the assessment measures abdominal muscular endurance.

Procedure

1. Start by lying on your back, knees bent, heels flat on the floor, and arms across your chest, interlocking your thumbs into your shirt. Your buttocks must remain on the floor, and do not thrust your hips.
2. A partner holds your feet down firmly.
3. Then perform as many correct sit-ups as possible in one minute.
4. In the up position, you should touch your elbows to your knees and then descend until your shoulder blades touch the floor.

5. Your score equals the total number of correct sit-ups. Any resting must be done in the up position.
6. Breathing should be as normal as possible; make sure that you do not hold your breath.

How to Prepare for Sit-ups

1. Estimate the number of correct sit-ups that you can do in one minute. Multiply that number by .75 (75%). Round that result to the lowest number. This will be the number of repetitions (sit-ups) that you will do per set.
2. Warm up with some light activity of your choice, such as stationary biking, walking or jogging on the treadmill, light calisthenics, etc.
3. Perform the number of sit-ups (correct form) determined in the calculation done in #1, above.
4. Rest no longer than 60 seconds, and do another set of repetitions.
5. Repeat #3 and #4 until you have done three to five sets of repetitions. Even though the last sets may be difficult, maintain proper form. If you have to hesitate longer on the floor on the last sets to get in the full number, then do so, but rest no longer than what is necessary to recuperate for another repetition.
6. Do this routine every other day. Increase the number of reps per set by one or two each week.

Note: If you are unable to do at least 5 repetitions per set, you will need to modify your routines to perform sufficient repetitions to address muscular endurance. You should follow a crunch or curl routine for your abdominals, and also get assistance in designing leg exercises to address the hip flexors.

300 Meter Run

Purpose

This exercise measures anaerobic power.

Procedure

1. Warm up and stretch before testing.
2. Run 300 meters at your maximum level of effort. Record the amount of time it took to complete the required distance.
3. Walk for 3–5 minutes immediately following the test to cool down. This is an important safety practice.

How to Prepare for the 300 Meter Run

To prepare for this component, it is a good idea to do interval training. First, time yourself running 110 yards with all-out effort. This will be your initial time, or IT. Second, divide your IT by .80 to get your training time.

Maximum Standard Push-Ups

Purpose

This component measures the muscular endurance of the upper body (anterior deltoid, pectoralis major, and triceps).

Procedure

1. Place hands shoulder-width apart, with your fingers pointing forward. Some part of your hands must lie within a vertical line drawn from the outside edge of your shoulders to the floor.
2. Start from the up position. Arms should be fully extended, elbows locked, and hands and feet only touching the floor. Keep the back straight at all times and lower the chest to approximately three inches from the floor. A small rubber ball or sponge (three inches in dimension) can be placed below you on the floor to check for distance. Then, return to the up position with elbows fully locked. This counts for one repetition.
3. Resting is permitted only in the up position. Your back must remain straight while resting and is permitted only in the up position.

4. When you elect to stop or cannot continue, the instructor will record your total number of correct push-ups as the score. There is no time limit for this exercise.

How to Prepare for Push-ups:

1. Estimate the maximum number of correct push-ups you can do in one minute.
2. Multiply that number by .75 (75%). Round the result to the lowest number. This will be the number of repetitions (push-ups) you will do per set.
3. Warm up with some light activity of your choice, such as riding a stationary bike, walking or jogging on the treadmill, light calisthenics, etc.
4. Perform the number of push-ups (correct form) determined in the calculation done in #2 above.
5. Rest no longer than 60 seconds, and then do another set of repetitions.
6. Repeat #4 and #5 until you have done three to five sets of repetitions. Even though the last sets may be difficult, maintain proper form. If you have to hesitate longer on the floors on the last sets to finish every repetition, then do so but rest no longer than what is necessary to recuperate.
7. Do this routine every other day. Increase the number of reps per set by one or two each week. If you are unable to do at least five (5) repetitions per set, then you may want to get assistance in designing a strength routine that focuses on both core strength and pressing movements.

1.5 Mile Run

Purpose

The 1.5 mile run is a measure of aerobic power (cardiovascular endurance). The objective in the 1.5 mile run is to cover the distance as fast as possible.

Procedure

1. Warm up and stretch thoroughly prior to running.
2. Run 1.5 miles as fast as possible.
3. Do not physically touch another participant during the run, unless rendering first aid.
4. Finish times should be recorded.
5. Upon completing the run, you should cool down by walking for about five minutes to prevent venous pooling (i.e., pooling of the blood in the lower extremities which reduces the return of blood to the heart and may cause cardiac arrhythmia).

How to Prepare for 1.5 Mile Run

To prepare for this test, you need to gradually increase your running endurance. Begin at the level you can accommodate, and use a workout format that involves walking and running. Run a short distance, walk for a while, and then run again. Begin slowly and then proceed to the next level by improving your overall running or walking time.
